

Patent

We help clients build and execute effective patent protection, avoidance and enforcement strategies.

To help you identify, protect and leverage the value of your technology, strengthen your patent portfolio and mitigate exposure to third-party claims, we invest in understanding your products, core technologies, competitive landscapes and business needs. We listen to you. Your needs and goals guide the strategies we develop together to empower you to make effective business decisions. And, we have the right people for the job. Faegre Drinker's registered patent attorneys and other professionals have backgrounds in technology and scientific spaces from nearly every industry sector, and a deep understanding of domestic and international patent protection and avoidance strategies.
