To enhance our support of clients in the food, agriculture and biofuels industries, Faegre & Benson uses an industry-focused, cross-practice service model. Composed of more than 100 lawyers, this group serves the full range of national and worldwide legal needs for food, agriculture and biofuels companies.

Within our core practice areas, we also designate service teams. Lawyers in each service area understand the unique needs of food, agriculture and biofuels companies and ensure clients receive optimal benefit from working with us.
